ACQUISITIONS AND DISPOSITIONS

Our hospitality industry clients regularly call on us to handle complex asset transactions. Our attorneys have extensive experience in negotiating, documenting, and consummating hotel and restaurant acquisitions and dispositions in both large and small-scale transactions involving major resorts, syndicators, hotel companies, ski resort companies, investors, and owners of hotel properties. We also handle mergers and acquisitions for companies that own and develop hospitality assets, including public-private company transactions, public-public transactions, and private-private transactions, as well as acquisitions by private equity money. Further, we negotiate asset and property management arrangements, including the negotiation of hotel management contracts for a variety of franchised and independent hotels, whether acquired or developed, with third-party or co-venturer managers. Through our outstanding track record in acquisitions and dispositions and our multidisciplinary approach, we are able to provide the type of comprehensive support and service that our hotel and resort clients find invaluable.

DEVELOPMENT AND LAND USE

Sheppard Mullin also has strong real estate development and land use expertise to assist hotel developers in the planning, permitting, and development of hotels, resorts, and restaurants. With a clear understanding of applicable legal requirements, strong negotiating skills, thorough preparation of materials, and persuasive presentation skills, Sheppard Mullin's Land Use attorneys regularly guide clients through the land use and environmental regulatory maze and related court actions. Our Land Use practice is composed of attorneys from the Real Estate, Litigation, and Environmental groups. We are knowledgeable about specialized issues such as state and federal laws regarding wetlands and rivers, water rights, endangered species, mining, coastal protection, hazardous wastes, toxic air contaminants, solid wastes, air and water quality, and historic preservation. We have worked with developers of large and small projects, which routinely require compliance with one or more of these laws. In order to serve our clients ably, we keep abreast of relevant legal developments and maintain solid relations with the staff and officials of applicable regulatory bodies.

Representative Matters Include:

- Counseled Pebblebrook Hotel Trust through the land use aspects of resolving an eight-year-old Notice of Violation issued by the Coastal Commission to make way for the hotel resorts conversion to a Margaritaville.
- Represented Caydon in the successful entitlement of the California Theatre Hotel in downtown San Diego, including resolution of CEQA litigation by a local historic preservation group turning them into project supporters and earning a unanimous approval from City Council despite the strong opposition from local environmental groups and hotel unions using a divide and conquer strategy among hotel and construction labor unions.
- Represented Choice Hotels in the due diligence efforts on six downtown San Diego hotel sites.
- Represented Reef Point Hospitality on the successful permitting and resolution of union objections to development of a downtown San Diego hotel site using a divide and conquer strategy among three separate construction unions while not attracting attention from the local hotel union.
- Represented Blue House Hotel in the negotiation of a master agreement with Starwood for the development of the Frida Kahlo brand of hotels in Latin America.

- Represented Cisterra Development and JStreet Development in successful litigation against hotel union, Unite Here Local 30 (Unite Here), alleging violations of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) related to two downtown development projects in San Diego, CA. This win was the fifth straight time the firm had defeated Unite Here in CEQA lawsuits.
- Represented Lowе Enterprises and Holland Partner Group in securing permits for their joint development of a smart growth, mixed use project along the San Diego Riverfront. The project included a rezone, land use plan amendments, a vesting tentative map, a conditional use permit and a flexible specific plan authorizing 840 multi-family units, a three-acre riverfront park, habitat restoration project, and the restoration of the aging Town & Country Hotel and Convention Center in the Mission Valley area of San Diego, all with pedestrian access to a trolley stop. The project overcame hotel union and construction trade union opposition to win the support of the San Diego City Council.

Our attorneys have significant experience in large, Fortune 500 international intellectual property and brand acquisitions, as well as other legal services relating to international transactions including international title searches, due diligence, and worldwide intellectual property assignments. We have attorneys with several decades of international experience in the preparation and prosecution of trademark and service mark applications, including the initial preparation and filing of the application, as well as prosecuting applications before various national Patent and Trademark Offices and other international tribunals.

With our network of associated attorneys throughout the world, we handle prosecution matters in practically every country in the world, as well as oppositions and cancellation proceedings. On behalf of both U.S. companies and entities headquartered abroad, we assist with post-registration and maintenance issues, including renewals of trademarks, filing declarations of continued use and the preparation, and recordation of assignments after the acquisition of new marks. Our attorneys also assist a number of clients with portfolios of marks that exceed 500 registrations on a worldwide basis.

Additionally, Sheppard Mullin offers counseling services on the complete range of issues that can arise in connection with international brand protection and trademark matters. For example, we perform brand watching services, render international infringement opinions, engage in anti-counterfeiting actions and enforcement activities, in-use investigations, conduct due diligence and analyze the proper brand protection and enforcement activities for each client, depending upon need. We also have experience arbitrating international domain name disputes before the World Intellectual Property Organization and the National Arbitration Forum.

ADVERTISING AND PROMOTIONS

Word of mouth and a few billboards just don't cut it any longer. Hospitality brands are utilizing new and sophisticated advertising and promotion methods to increase market share and brand awareness. Advertising law necessarily touches on a wide variety of legal disciplines, including entertainment, intellectual property, unfair competition, privacy and publicity rights, constitutional rights, e-commerce, and antitrust and government trade regulation, among others. Our advertising attorneys specialize in these issues from both the counseling and litigation perspectives. Our work generally covers the full range of advertising, marketing, and promotional endeavors.

E-COMMERCE

Our attorneys advise clients in all aspects of doing business on the Internet, including the creation of a website, development of website terms and conditions and privacy policies, DMCA compliance and the negotiation of back-end hosting agreements, third-party development agreements and related technology licensing agreements, disclaimers and copyright notices, copyright protection, consent agreements, proper use of photos, and sponsorship agreements. In addition, assistance is needed to monitor, enforce and protect against unauthorized sale of products, defamation, domain infringements, false advertising and unfair competition claims. While many of these disputes permit and require the application of established legal theory, online commercial endeavors also yield a variety of new and complex challenges stretching conventional law far beyond its original scope. Whether a company uses the Internet as an active and dynamic medium for transacting business, or as a more passive advertising forum, legal disputes with competitors and other intellectual property owners are inescapable.

We are well-equipped to provide guidance and representation in both transactions and litigation in a variety of areas, including:

- Domain name ownership
- E-commerce transaction disputes
- Protection and policing of proprietary content
- Privacy concerns
- Libel and defamation
- Jurisdictional effects of website ownership
- Online patent, copyright, trademark and trade secret disputes
- Authority of the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers ("ICANN")

DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION

Sheppard Mullin's nationally recognized Construction practice regularly assists in all phases of hotel, resort, and other development. Our attorneys know the design and construction industry and the technology involved therein, from BIM to curtain wall design to the intricacies of addressing a mechanics lien. In the pre-construction phase, we negotiate and draft the entire suite of design, construction, and management contracts, as well as completion guarantees, bonds, and construction agency and cooperative agreements. We regularly advise clients regarding construction loans, insurance, bonds and licensing. During construction, we advise clients regarding contract compliance, project documentation, and mechanics lien and stop notice law. We also engage in early dispute resolution so that claims are not left for resolution at project close-out. Post-construction, we represent clients in the litigation, arbitration, and mediation of claims and disputes, and some of our attorneys serve as neutral arbitrators of design and construction disputes.

Representative Matters Include:

- Assist Madison Square Garden with a variety of legal issues and disputes arising from the construction of The Sphere, a next generation concert and events venue in Las Vegas, NV.

ANTITRUST AND COMPETITION

Recognized by Chambers, Competition Law360, Legal 500, Global Competition Review, and SuperLawyers, among others, our team has more than 30 attorneys who do nothing but practice antitrust and competition law and includes former high-ranking officials and trial attorneys from the FTC and the U.S. Department of Justice, Antitrust Division.

The hospitality industry has been undergoing dramatic changes in recent years, with consolidation occurring across several key sectors. At the same time, the industry faces increasing antitrust risks as the Biden administration and State Attorneys General continue to ramp up their antitrust enforcement efforts and as plaintiffs challenge certain business practices.

These risks have led a growing number of companies to turn to our leading global antitrust and competition group, as the hospitality industry is a key focus of our practice. Our antitrust attorneys have represented several key players in the industry, including hotels, travel agencies, and consortiums, on a wide range of antitrust issues. We have significant expertise regarding antitrust issues related to potential transactions, pricing practices, and government investigations and litigation. We are also recognized as thought leaders in this space, as we frequently speak and write on these topics.

DATA PRIVACY

The ability to transfer customer data, employee files, financial records, and other information around the globe quickly and cheaply has opened up a world of opportunity for many businesses. It also presents a new world of risks. The risks are high. Privacy laws vary by jurisdiction, are interpreted unpredictably, and are in a constant state of flux. Even the most well-meaning, conscientious company can make a false step as it captures, uses, transfers, and discloses personal information. The consequences can be serious and even devastating: heavy fines, injunctions, government audits, even criminal liability. Perhaps more importantly, companies that run afoul of privacy and data protection standards may suffer reputation-wrecking media attention and the immeasurable damage of lost consumer trust and confidence. The potential for misuse of sensitive personal information has triggered legislative and regulatory action worldwide. The U.S. has seen a groundswell of state and federal privacy legislation. The E.U. has adopted a variety of rules and regulations and other commercially prominent nations are rushing to join the trend.

These risks have led a growing number of companies to turn to our leading global Privacy group for help in adopting sound privacy practices, ensuring regulatory and legal compliance, and protecting their competitive advantage. We advise hospitality clients on planning, drafting, and implementing privacy, security, and data protection policies and “best practices,” compliance with applicable laws, regulations and rules, and crisis management and litigation strategies for non-compliance. We counsel on such issues as data security and breach of security issues, online security and privacy, and domestic and international anti-spam legislation.

Our wide-ranging experience on behalf of hospitality clients includes representation in the following:

- National privacy class actions arising from SMS message campaigns under the TCPA.
- National privacy class actions arising from alleged call monitoring and recording.
- Numerous class actions brought under California’s Song-Beverly Act and other California privacy laws arising from alleged collection and use of customer information in connection with credit card transactions.
- FTC investigation regarding the collection and use of user information in connection with behaviorally-targeted advertising.
- Formation of privacy policies and data security programs, compliance with privacy laws and regulations, data security breach issues, and constitutional, statutory, and common law privacy issues.
- Responding to large scale, multi-jurisdiction data security breach incidents, including complying with state data security breach notifications laws and coordinating efforts with technology and public relations consultants to develop a holistic response to meet client’s legal obligations and help mitigate negative publicity.
- EU Privacy Safe Harbor Certification in connection with transferring data from the European Union to the United States, which includes conducting an initial privacy due diligence review, revising privacy policy and modifying practices to conform to EU Privacy Safe Harbor Principles, and preparing and submitting the EU Privacy Safe Harbor Certification application.
